Dean J. Weldin Addresses Frosh

Congratulates Freshmen On Splendid Record

Dr. Weldin's special assembly for Freshmen last Monday revealed some interesting results. Dr. Weldin stated that in September, 1931, three hundred and nineteen (319) students enrolled as compared with two hundred and ten (210) in 1930. Of these three hundred and nineteen, thirty left school of their own accord; two left at the end of the first quarter; seven were dropped at the end of the first semester and two failed to return at the beginning of the second semester on account of financial or other reasons; and three moved up into the Sophomore class. Thus we have forty-four that left, bringing our total to two hundred and seventy-five Freshmen. At the new registration of the second semester three new students were admitted and six were reinstated from previous attendance, making a final total of two hundred and eighty-four students.

Dr. Weldin congratulated the Freshmen for this fine showing and is willing to challenge any college or land grant college of our standing to produce results as favorable as ours.

Dr. Weldin asked the members of the various Freshmen (Eds and Co-eds) teams to rise and make themselves known and get acquainted. Our future stars shyly rose and quickly resumed their seats.

The meeting was concluded with the colorful Frosh song, "We Are the Class of 1935—Whoopee."

Phi Kappa Phi Elects Members

Mr. Kenneth Wright Is Chosen from Faculty; Eight Bids Offered

At a meeting of Phi Kappa Phi held last Monday afternoon, the following members of the Senior Class were elected to membership: Faculty, Kenneth Wright, instructor of botany; agriculture, Harry R. Lewis, Jr., and George H. M. Lawrence; business administration, Clarke Mordough; engineering, John F. Schmidt, Leon C. Braut and Arthur Carey; home economics, Natalie Dunn.

This brings the total of Seniors in Phi Kappa Phi up to twenty, as twelve were elected on the basis of a three year average. Of those selected earlier in the year there were none from the school of agriculture and one from business; five from engineering, two from home economics and four from science.

The national organization of this honorary fraternity limits the local student membership to one-tenth of the Senior Class with those who are chosen at the end of a three year period having an average of 85 per cent and those at the end of a three and one-half year period an average of 80 per cent.

Mr. Wright, chosen this year from the faculty, comes here from Ohio State University, where he was a member of Sigma Psi, an honorary scientific fraternity.

At a recent meeting of the executive board of the Beacon, elections were held for the coming year. Jack Savran of Providence was elected editor-in-chief to take the place of the outgoing editor, G. H. M. Lawrence, who in the past has led the Beacon on to the greatest position it has ever had before the student body. Savran has been very conscientious and faithful in his work and no doubt will bring with him new ideas for the pleasure of the Beacon readers. The position of managing editor is one which ranks of equal importance with that of the editor; it is the most difficult position on the executive board and requires the work of an artist to squeeze six pages of news into four or vice versa. Melvin J. Koppe has been designated to carry on this work for the 1932-33 season to take the place of Harry J. Prebluda, who has carried on this work for the past year. Mel has shown particular promise and ability as shown by some of his work in writing the Idler. Miss Ruth Nelen was chosen as assistant editor to take the place of Nat Dunn, who has represented the "west side" of the campus and has certainly represented that group in full glamour.

As these officers assume their duties, it is with the best wishes of the former editors and a certainty that they will not only carry out their work well—but to the best of their ability.

Men Debate Conn. Aggies Tonight

Pickersgill, Koppe and Fine to Debate

Tonight at Storrs the debating team will debate Connecticut Aggies on the subject: "Resolved, That the Allied War Debts Should Be Cancelled." Rhode Island debaters are to uphold the negative.

This debate will prove to be of much interest, as this is the first debate with our rivals since debating has been resumed. The last team to debate for this college, under the coaching of Prof. Churchill, was a team that went to Storrs and defeated the Aggies. That team was the only local group that had ever defeated the Connecticut debaters at Connecticut. The debate was held in 1929 on the question: "Resolved, That the Jury System Should Be Abolished." Our side was upheld by Samuel Epstein, Lester Robinson and Hyman Hochman.

The local team that is debating tonight consists of Henry Pickersgill, Hyman Fine and Melvin Koppe. All have had considerable experience in debating, and are expected to repeat the victory of the last Rhode Island team. This team has been coached by Miss Dickson and Prof. Rockafellow for the past two weeks. The question of discussion is a popular one at the present time, being widely debated by the various colleges and universities throughout the country. Should they defeat Connecticut, it will be the first victory for the men's debating teams this year. The first debate with the University of California was a no-decision debate; the second debate was with Middlebury College, and registered the first defeat for Rhode Island.

Chemistry Society

At a recent meeting of the R. I. State College Chemistry Society the following officers were elected: Louis Kramer, president; Richard Wood, vice president; Edward Deszyck, secretary; and Halky Ross, treasurer.

The society is planning a very extensive program for the future in that it is planning to hold an industrial and chemical exhibit during Junior Week. The society is also planning to attend the chemical exposition to be held in New York next year.

The speaker at the next meeting will be Dr. Vernon, who is the faculty advisor for this organization.

Dr. Beaven of N. Y. Assembly Speaker

Gives Interesting View on Political Situation

At assembly last Monday, Dr. Beaven, president of the Colgate Rochester Divinity School, addressed the student body on "The College Student of Today and The America of Tomorrow." He opened his speech with a few anecdotes about that piece of hardware so essential to the co-eds—the lipstick.

After working the audience into a humorous mood, Dr. Beaven embarked on the main theme of his speech. "The American populace," said he, "takes very little interest in politics. They all wish to get more out of the government than they put into it. In fact some people don't put anything into it; they even disregard their privilege of voting. In no European country can one find so small a percentage of the citizens exercising their franchise as one does in America."

"When the fathers of the Constitution established our government, they chose a democracy rather than an aristocracy. However, for a democracy to be a real success, every one must cooperate. This is not the case in the United States and therein lies the reason why our government is so inefficient."

"Even when some of our citizens do come to the polls, they allow mass action or crowd psychology to rule them and they vote as the crowd votes or as a 'party boss' directs them. The 'best minds' in our country have no time for government; they go on with their own work and let second-rate brains direct the country. The majority of the populace does not know why it is voting a certain way. It does not know why a law will or will not help the country. The great mass of our populace is ignorant of the needs of the country. The colleges are today preparing the citizens of tomorrow. These college-prepared men should know about governmental activities and will, it is hoped, be able to become fit leaders in politics."

Rhody Defeats Worcester Poly

In one of the most hectic battles of the season, the Rhode Island State basketball team defeated Worcester Tech at Worcester, last Saturday night by the score of 53-49. The game was replete with thrills and tense excitement.

With Reggie Horseman leading the team, the Rams opened up a whirlwind attack that was met by a fighting Tech quintet. Rhody's rugged center roamed all over the floor shooting baskets from all angles that accounted for 20 points and stopping the Engineers at critical times with his defensive genius.

The Worcester five could not seem to cope with the superior Rhode Island team play. Tossing (Continued on Page 4)

Twelfth Night To Be Presented In Edwards Hall Next Wednesday

Support of Student Body Solicited in Order That Production May Be Given; Cast Is on New England Tour

With a rollicking band of players, the Drama Guild of New England comes to Rhody on the evening of Wednesday, March 16, to present in Edwards Hall Shakespeare's immortal comedy, "Twelfth Night," of all Shakespeare's plays, at once the most enjoyable to witness. The acting company is composed entirely of established artists of the speaking stage, such as John E. Hines, who has been for several seasons in Shakespearean repertoire with Maude Shearer, Bruce Adams, who comes with a wealth of professional experience which includes three seasons of Shakespearean repertoire with the late Robert Mantell, Frederick Ormonde, an outstanding player, rich in Shakespearean experience which includes several seasons with Sir Beerbohm Tree, Augustus Gill, one of the best known character actresses in this country, whose career includes many successful seasons on tour with several of the great Shakespearean stars, and Arlene Scott, one of the most talented delineators of Shakespeare's women, who has been acclaimed as one of the country's finest young actresses. A company of stars which will endeavor to interpret Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" with all the skill and talent with which Shakespeare would have wished to see it presented himself.

This production which is touring the New England States, playing under the auspices of the leading schools and colleges of the section, was secured here at Rhody chiefly through the efforts of Dean Helen E. Peck, professor of (Continued on Page 4)

New Use Had For Delta Zeta Lodge

The Proposed Plan Would Make It an Organization Center for All

Now that Delta Zeta has acquired a new home many bids are being made for what was the "Delta Zeta Lodge" as a meeting point for some of the social groups of the campus.

This building has served as a laboratory for the Home Economics Department, as the headquarters of Chi Omega prior to their erecting their own home in 1928, as the meeting point of Delta Zeta, and now is again vacant waiting for its next guest. Who will it be?

It is understood that an existing group of non-sorority women students are desirous of obtaining it as a place of convocation. However, The Beacon has a suggestion which has the support of many students for the use of this valuable building.

The suggestion is that this building be used in the future as a focal center of all the non-fraternal organizations on the campus that might care to use it as such.

At the present time there is no place where a mixed group can conveniently meet for the transaction of their business at any desirable time.

Classrooms are unsatisfactory for two reasons: First, they are not available at any time in the day or evening, and, secondly, they offer no place to serve as a repository for valuable records and data. This item is important, as the present system of having the secretary keep this material is always a matter of annoyance in that pa- (Continued on Page 4)

New Curriculum Still Vague

Changes Made in All Schools; Catalogues to Be Modernized

Dean Barlow states that no definite work has been completed regarding the proposed changes in the curriculum for the next college year. It is to be understood, however, that many changes will take place in the business administration and general science courses. In conjunction with the biology option a pre-medical course will be offered, which will probably concentrate on advanced zoology and anatomy. Since the new curriculum is still in the process of construction, only tentative schedules have been made, and even these are not ready for publication.

An innovation to be tried next year is a straight 18 hour week, with three hours to be allotted to each subject, as far as possible. In the revised courses there will be opportunities for as many as six electives, in the third and fourth years. All electives will be taken in subjects foreign to the course pursued, which means that students taking the biological option will choose their electives from chemical option, or another course entirely.

The aim of this plan is to encourage and foster a broader course, with a more cultured graduate as a result.

At the present time a committee is working on the dovetailing of the proposed courses with the present courses. This group is also trying to standardize the requirements of the present courses, and also to establish a satisfactory series of prerequisites for both old and new courses.

Women Debaters Defeat Middlebury

Holmes, Regan and Litwin Defend Rhody

Debating at Rhode Island State is fast attaining heights. Witness that our women's team again defeated the women's team of Middlebury College at Middlebury, the subject being: Resolved: That Capitalism is not doomed to failure in the United States. The Rhode Island women upholding the affirmative were Misses Helen Holmes, Kay Regan and Matilda Litwin.

Sad to say, our men's team did not outdo the men of Middlebury in the argumentative art, but fell before the more experienced orators. Those upholding the affirmative for Rhode Island on the subject, Resolved: That Allied War Debts Should Be Cancelled, were Messrs. Lloyd Crandall, Harry Prebluda and Don Williams.

Much credit is due Miss Mabel Dickson and Prof. Robert Rockafellow for their invaluable and untiring aid.

Farewell

With this issue of The Beacon, the present executive board withdraws from official capacity in favor of the erstwhile associate editors. To them the outgoing Seniors offer their sympathy, commiseration and whatnot—for they certainly need it. The students on this campus certainly never appreciate the effort and work which a very select few carry on in order to publish The Beacon every week. At this time it is proper to congratulate the new board on their success in securing their respective positions, for with but little recognition up to this time, the new board assumes very responsible positions. The new editors will always be criticized—even tho their publication ranks with the leading college publications in the east. However, past editors have weathered these attacks from various sources, and it is expected that the incomers will do likewise.

Very few students realize how difficult it is to publish a paper in a small college. At Rhody, most every student knows what is happening or what has happened in the past so that when a news item makes its appearance at a later date, it is stale news. Next year it is hoped that a course of journalism will be instituted at the college so as to revamp this stale news into a more interesting paper.

Regardless of the general opinion voiced by the Senior class a few weeks ago in its questionnaire, the outgoing board feels that it has accomplished a great deal for The Beacon and for Rhode Island State College. The Edwards Memorial issue, the General Assembly issue, and the Inaugural issue are but few of the great accomplishments of the outgoing board in their four years' stay at Rhode Island State.

And so the outgoing editors bid farewell . . . .

"With a steady swing and an open brow
We have tramped the ways together,
But we're clasping hands at the crossroads now
In the fiends' own night for weather;
And whether we bleed or whether we smile
In the leagues that lie before us,
The ways of life are many a mile
And the dark of fate is o'er us;
Here's luck!
And a cheer for the dark before us!
You to the left and I to the right,
And the ways of man must sever,
And it may well be for a day and a night
And it may be forever!
But whether we live or whether we die
(For the end is past our knowing),
Here's two frank hearts and the open sky,
Be a fair or an ill wind blowing;
Here's luck!
In the teeth of all winds blowing!"

College Band

Dean Barlow last Monday made an appeal for contributions from organizations on this campus, in order that the college band might purchase uniforms. It is the moral duty of every student on this campus, as well as each faculty member to get behind and support the band. After all, the band is just as much part of this college as are our athletics or other extra-curricular activities.

We ask every true son of Rhode Island State College to help this worthy cause. The amount you give is, of course, an important factor, but we are not asking for any specific contribution. Give what you feel that you can afford, be it ten dollars or ten cents, but give it now so that the uniforms can be purchased soon. A large sum is needed for this purchase, but with your contributions and with the proceeds derived from the various concerts that the band is offering throughout the State, sufficient money may be raised. But YOUR CONTRIBUTION IS ESSENTIAL!

Last year at this time there appeared an editorial in The Beacon asking why we did not have a band which we could be proud of. Now, under the leadership of the new musical advisor, we have a band that is equal to that of any other college or university in the east. The band—rehearing four hours a week—for which no scholastic recognition is obtained, has done its share of the work. It is now your duty to help this worthy cause. GIVE! GIVE NOW!

Asleep Again

Once again the old order hangs on—as it usually does at Rhode Island State. The Senior class votes to accept the traditional sheepskin roll diploma in preference to the new type which is smaller and conveniently enclosed in a gold embossed blue leather case. Poor, dear old Seniors, you are a sentimental bunch, aren't you? Such remarks as "I wouldn't feel as tho I'd been graduated if I didn't have a big diploma framed and hung in the library"; "Yes, I want to hang mine with dad's and my brother's—they've been saving the space for it and would be terribly disappointed if I came home with only a miniature in a leather case to show for my college education." And how sweet you all will look carrying your framed documents to employers and agents!

One fellow says, "I'll stick it in the drawer and it will get all crushed and wrinkled and won't it be a pretty sight to offer as evidence of my neat habits—yea—you guys don't know a good thing when you see it." And I don't blame him for walking off disgustedly, for that is the same spirit we meet everywhere we turn when the decision is up to the student body. It is the same feeling that prevails in our government, in our system of legislation and in our system of jurisdiction. We hang on to the traditional in the face of the more efficient because of sentiment. One needs only to look to our judicial system—the jury, a hangover of the Victorian era; the time a man must wait to be brought to trial; the easy marriage laws and rigid divorce laws; and so on we could exemplify this social lag at length. To correct this we naturally look to the educated youth, only to find him thinking and feeling in the same narrow channel as the father he thinks old fashioned. May I remind you in the words of Dr. Beaven that "the America of tomorrow depends on the college youth of today"?

The Village Church

Attention

All those desiring to contribute to the fund for the purchase of uniforms for the college band are requested to make these contributions to Joseph Riccio, manager of the Student Band, Kingston. At the present time there have been but three private contributions. They are as follows:

A friend in faculty—$1.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon—$5.

—and that's what the statistician does for industry

Definite knowledge of "where we are" and "what lies ahead" is as vital in business as in flying. For this expert navigating, the Bell System has long relied upon statisticians.

These men study present and prospective industrial, economic and social conditions in all parts of the country. They gather facts—analyze them, correlate them, discover their significance to the telephone business, draw guidance from them. They study and forecast the changing requirements of the public for telephone service. They estimate the probable future demand for new services, such as radio telephony to foreign lands and ships at sea. They keep the executives advised as to current progress towards the objectives thus carefully determined.

Only by plotting a course scientifically can the Bell System continue to develop along sound lines.

The Idler

Howdy folks—Just the good old “Maestro” swapping places with the reg’lar Idler who has been swish-swashing for the past few weeks.

Wasn’t that a mean crack the assembly speaker gave the co-eds? I wonder what brand of lipstick his wife uses.

Congrats to the men’s and women’s debating teams (although the men lost, they had a moral victory)—the “Maestro” has proof!

What’s this about Alpha Ep turning “cultural” — Rhody seems to have absorbed the Middlebury spirit—what do you think about these “deucedly clever” people?

Pan-Hell coming next week—they say it’s formal this year, r-u going?

So Reggy went wild and helped pull Rhody through in the Worcester fracas—What happened to Marty?

Phi Kap held final elections Monday afternoon. The “Maestro” was just going to tell you a secret but somebody glanced over his shoulder. (Shh—the secret is all explained in some other section of this publication.)

Grist is coming out the Tuesday of Junior Prom Week—have you posed for the birdie yet? — How does the monkey look?

Is there any such town as Bradleboro? If any of you can locate it beware of mosquito (etc.) infestations.

Lost—One picture of the “Last Rose of Summer.” Reward—(Please look in your mem book—here’s a chance for some extra money.)

After centuries of existence, dormitories have at last been taken into consideration by the inventors. Yes, the scientific geniuses have devised a contraption that will affect all of us. But mostly the college students who have to bear the snorting snores of their roommates will be benefited.

At the British patent office, an anti-snooring device has just been patented. It is guaranteed to be absolutely fool proof. The apparatus consists of a microphone that is responsive to the grating sound waves emitted by the snores. This microphone is linked with an electric circuit which, when closed, jabs a pin rapidly back and forth into the sleeper. When the volume of the snoring reaches a stage popularly known as “ripping hard wood,” or “striking a knot,” the microphone automatically closes the circuit and the pin gives a harder jab.

Students who are bothered with a roommate having a severe case of “snoritis” are especially urged to invest in this modern device. For further particulars regarding this astounding device, send a letter to the maestro of your home town.

And it is rumored that some of the bunks on the deck of the Home Management House have especially advantageous views—from those “Good Night, Sweetheart” refrains to the editor’s good morning kisses!

And with this issue do we, the old staff, hand over our quills to our successors—May they enjoy every success. Yep, we’re getting old!

And so the old maestro bids you and Rhody

Good Luck.

Scabbard and Blade Holds Smoker

Last Monday evening the members of Scabbard and Blade, the honorary officers’ organization at this college, held a smoker. The members attending were Captain Freeman, Captain Holly, Arthur Edmond, Fred Schmidt, Leon C. Brault, Patterson, Harry Lewis, Jr., A. W. Cushmar.

The members are striving to make Scabbard and Blade more prominent on the campus than it has been in previous years.

At present this organization is preparing its “crack shots” with the rifles to compete in a rifle match to be held on March 15th.

After the business of the meeting was dispersed with, refreshments were served and a general discussion of current military topics followed.

State Track Team Rounding Into Form

First Appearance to Be in Providence March 12th

Coach Tootell’s Rhode Island State track team is fast rounding into form, and in another month the squad should be in good condition. Saturday, March 12, will be the first important appearance of the State athletes. Goff, Miner, Morris, Natalie and Sylvester Capalbo, McAuslan and Smith will take part in the track festival to be held at the auditorium in Providence. Smith and Goff will see action in the dashes, Miner and Morris will compete in the distance running events, while McAuslan and the Capalbo brothers will take part in the pole vault. McAuslan, who just missed 12 feet at the Boston meet, February 20, will be closely watched.

The team’s strength cannot be foretold as yet. Tootell has several weaknesses on the squad that will have to be filled, before the first major meet. In the 100-yard dash it is expected that the speedy Leland Smith and Ken Goff will score in the important meets for Rhody. Last year Goff approached the college record held by Talbot, and has a fine chance this year to stand out as one of the best dash men in New England college circles.

The ineligibility of Modliszewski, the squad’s outstanding hammer thrower, has weakened the team considerably. Coach Tootell was counting on making a discus thrower out of the big fellow. According to reports released by the National College Association, Modliszewski was conceded ninth place among the hammer throwers of the country!

The team shows strength in the 440 and two-mile, and shows weaknesses in the high jump and discus. Krausche holds the college record in the low hurdles and Leland Smith holds the javelin record.

Trial field events will take place every Thursday, and on March 18 a handicap field event trial will be held. The Frosh will meet the Varsity on Saturday, April 16.

Westerly Subdued By Ramlets, 49-11

The Rhode Island Frosh had little difficulty swamping the Westerly High School quintet, 49-11, last Thursday afternoon. Boasting the bigger and more experienced club, the Ramlets outplayed the school boys in every department, and though the Westerly quintet tried hard, it was just a matter of what the final score would be.

The Frosh opened up with their heavy artillery in the initial period tallying nine points while holding the visitors to three goals from the foul line. The second quarter saw the Ramlets go way ahead when they outscored the Westerly team, 15-2, to lead at half time, 24-5.

Again in the third period the home team had little difficulty scoring, while the final period was much closer than the score indicates, the schoolboys giving the Frosh plenty of opposition.

“Pepper” Martin, with 12 points, was high man for the winners, while Trumpetto stood out in the Westerly defeat.

Sigma Kappa Initiates Seven

Annual Banquet Served at East Hall

Phi Chapter of Sigma Kappa announces with pleasure the following initiates: Mary Dolan, ’33; Margaret Coone, ’35; Elsie Crandall, ’35; Ethel Johnston, ’35; Janet Lyon, ’35; Gara Wood, ’35, and Olive Wooder, ’35. The initiation ceremony was held in the chapter house at 4:00 p. m. Saturday, March 5. Many of Sigma Kappa’s alumnae returned to the chapter for the ritual, and to take part in welcoming the new initiates into the sorority.

Following the initiation, a formal banquet was held at East Hall. Banquet tables were arranged in the traditional triangle; lavender and maroon decorative touches carried out the sorority theme. Sigma Kappa songs lent spirit to the occasion.

The initiates were honored at the annual breakfast in the chapter house Sunday morning. Alumnae and delegates from nearby chapters were present to renew friendships and to join in the greetings to the new sorority sisters.

R. I. Co-eds Subdue Pembroke, 37-19

Second Teamers of Rhody Down the Brown Women

The undefeated women’s basketball team added another victory to its score last Wednesday afternoon, when it defeated the Pembroke six, by a score of 37-19.

“Charlie” Waters starred with 22 points for State Varsity, while Miss Magyar featured with 14 points for Pembroke.

The second teams played a preliminary game in which Helen Baker, a Freshman forward, for Rhody, totaled 28 of the 37 points. “Betty” Whittaker played well for the losers, scoring 14 of their 22 points.

Rhode Island Wins Over Arnold, 36-21

Rhode Island turned in its eleventh victory of the season, when it downed Arnold College of New Haven at the local court. The playing of both quintets was ragged and careless in Rhody’s 36-21 victory. For the most part the game was slow and uninteresting.

Rhode Island jumped into an 8-0 lead at the very outset of the game and kept a comfortable margin at the half-way mark. The work of “Eddie” Cox and the excellent foul shooting of Captain Tyler managed to hold a 17-6 lead.

In the last period the play was faster and more interesting. The visitors managed to score 15 points while they held the winners to 19 points. The offense of both teams was subjected to tight defenses. Cox, with 12 points to his credit was the high scorer of the game. For the last 13 games Cox has not failed to score more than 10 points a game, and the speedy Newport forward is the highest scorer on the squad.

Coast Guard Wins Over Rhody, 44-40

The Coast Guard Academy scored one of the most startling upsets of the current collegiate basketball season when they handed the Rams a 44 to 40 unexpected setback at New London last week. The victory, the first scored by a Coast Guard team over any State athletic squad, was the third suffered by the Blue and White basketballers this year.

Outplayed from the start by a surprising Cadet offensive, the Rams were forced to fight an uphill battle all the way. The New London team literally swept the Rhode Island quintet off their feet in the opening period, building up a 28 to 19 lead at half time.

With the advent of the second period, the Rams displayed their best form of the night and with Eddie Cox and Johnny Tyler leading the attack they slowly closed the gap, tying the count at 37 all. At this point Horseman and Tyler were removed on fouls. Here the Cadets spurted, with their mainstays, Rea and Forney, dropping enough baskets through the hoop to offset a Rhode Island rally in the final minutes.

Rea, with 19 points, carried off scoring honors for the winners, while Eddie Cox, with 13 counters, was outstanding for the Rhody quintet.

The BENTLEY SCHOOL

Is the largest professional school in the United States which is devoted exclusively to training men to become specialists in accounting and finance. Completion of the course requires two years.

Graduates are employed in 29 states and 14 foreign countries as office managers, cost accountants, resident auditors, travelling auditors, statisticians, comptrollers, treasurers, branch managers, public accountants, etc.

Modern business demands the services of men qualified to do some one thing particularly well.

The man who knows a little about many things in business but not much about any one of them is greatly handicapped when he competes with men who are highly skilled in the principles and technic of some one department of business.

Men with college experience have particularly favorable prospects in the public accounting profession as well as in business, provided their technical training is adequate.

A catalog will be sent upon request. Please mention your college paper when writing.

pers are lost and material continually mislaid.

Fraternity houses are unsatisfactory because it is not possible to conduct a meeting of mixed couples under the existing environment.

In other words this building will offer just the needed requirements and with a small amount of supplementary equipment will serve a far greater number of students than ever before.

Those organizations which would make use of it would include the Beacon, Grist, Phi Delta, Student Councils, both men's and women's; engineering societies, Aggie Club Bio and Chem Societies and many others embracing the majority of non-fraternal organizations on the Campus. It would involve a total of at least 40% of the student body as compared with a possible 3% if it is allocated to an individual group. Should a State owned and supported building serve as small a percentage of those of the State's students when there is a far greater demand for it? Not only is there the demand, but also the need.

In order that this building be suited for the purpose, it would be desirable that each group making use of it be given the use of locked steel storage cabinets. These could be rented at a nominal fee by the Executive Office. The cost of connecting the building with the central heating plant would eventually lessen the cost of heat and render the building much more adaptable to the physical needs of any group which might use it. The best suggestion to be offered was that every group desiring to use it as a meeting place be given light, heat, equipment, etc., in return for an annual rental which would be within the scope of the group.

The Beacon takes this opportunity to present this suggestion before the faculty and students in order that it may receive their thought and consideration before the matter is definitely settled in the favor of any petitioning group.

team play to the winds the Engineers fought fiercely, but the fine playing of their individual stars fell short of garnering victory.

At half time, with the score tied, the Rams returned to the battle with the old Rhody spirit which brought them out on top.

Besides the brilliant 20 points scored by Horseman, Eddie Cox was next high man with 12 points for the winners. Gartrelle and Smith starred for the Tech quintet.

C. E. Society

At the last meeting of the Civil Engineering Society, held last Friday, Albert D'Orsi and George Bryden spoke on "Failure of Form of Dam" and "The Silent Sea Wall," respectively. The greater majority of the Civil Engineers attended.

The next meeting will be held next Friday. The speakers at this time will be Erland Tillman and Henry Pickersgill.

TWELFTH NIGHT
TO BE PRESENTED

English literature, herself an admirer of Shakespeare and one who has a deep understanding of Shakespeareana and a deft sense of Elizabethan Comedy. Costing as it does in the neighborhood of $350 it was questioned at first whether "Twelfth Night" could be put on here at Rhody, but through a plea for student support given by Dean Peck in assembly and the financial support of the Lyceum Course, the Drama Guild's "Twelfth Night" players are able to come to our campus. Admission will be fifty cents to students and seventy-five cents to others.

"Twelfth Night or What You Will" is a comedy in five acts, and as such is one of the lightest of Shakespeare's works. It appeals alike to the student and the sophisticated play-goer.

Sir Toby Belch, Sir Andrew Aguecheek, Malvolio, Orsino, Antonio, some of the best known and best loved of Shakespeare's characters, present themselves in this most delightful of plays. Full of gay laughter and ready wit, it appeals to one's imagination as no other of the bard's plays does. Its story is familiar.

Centering in the Castle of Orsino, on the sea coast and in and near the house of Olivia, dukes, sea captains, suitors, stewards, servants, sailors, pass before the spotlight within the limits of this play. A treat to the imagination such as is not within the reach of the average student every day or even once in a great while. A wonderful opportunity to the student who has always read Shakespeare to become familiar with his characters on the stage in real action and to know them personally. And what a chance that is, for to know Shakespeare's characters is to know life.

AEII Observes
Founder's Day

Last Wednesday evening, Rhody chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity observed Founders Day at an informal dinner given at Stowell's. Founders Day marked the anniversary of the founding of the first chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi at New York University.

Following the informal dinner, messages from the National officers of the fraternity were read. These were followed by addresses from well known brothers of the fraternity. The most inspiring address was one illustrating how fraternal life helps to encourage and raise oneself to a higher plane.

After the necessary formalities which go to make up a banquet were ended, fraternity and college songs closed the program.
